The Faculty of Architecture of Spiru Haret University, established in 1996 (GD no 225 of 04.04.1996), a member of EAAE since 2009, is the only private higher education institution for architecture in Romania accredited by the Romanian Ministry of Education in 2006 and reaccredited in 2012.

The Faculty provides with general and specialized knowledge in the fields of architecture, urban design, urban regeneration and heritage preservation, preparing students for a full range of professional activities. One of the major assets of the Faculty is the diversity and quality of professional practices.

The students acquire theoretical background and competencies in history, theory, technology, urban and territorial planning and ecology, developing at the same time appropriate design projects and urban plans.

Every academic year, the students carry out practical activity according to topics correlated with their acquired knowledge. Thus a constant dialogue between real-life experience and requirements and theoretical approach occurs, in order to better prepare the students.

Research and creative activities within the faculty include a wide range of topics and interests relevant to three strategic coordinates: regeneration of Romanian cities in the European context, modern solutions for a sustainable architecture, and sustainable management of the built heritage. Contract-based research links the school to real life within grant-type contracts.

The Faculty of Architecture focuses on improving quality and supporting creative performance.

The curriculum is dynamic: it may be modified by introducing new courses in accordance with the developments of science oriented to the pragmatic approach of knowledge, contributing to the training of the capabilities of properly exercising the chosen profession and include the individual work of the students, practical work (projects, drawings, computer renderings). The percentage of specific (50%), fundamental (18%), technical (16%), complementary (8%) and elective courses (8%) is in accordance with the Romanian Specific Standards of Academic Evaluation for Architecture and City Planning issued by ARACIS. The teaching/learning and evaluation activities are carried out in accordance with the provisions of the University Charter and Regulations.
